

One night Joseph had a dream that they were out collecting grain when his bundle of grain rose into the sky, and his brother's grain bowed down to his bundle. Joseph told his brothers about the dream and they became angry.

One day when Joseph's brothers were out in the field, they saw him coming from a distance. They decided to steal his coat and throw him in a well. A little later they saw some traders coming down the road and so they sold Joseph to them.

There was a young man named Joseph who had eleven brothers. Joseph's father gave him a special colourful coat because Joseph was his favourite son. This made his brothers jealous.

